1. See the "Background of Invention" section on pages 1-2 in the specification of this patent application.

2. In late 1999, the Canadian company iCraveTV began delivering US network television programming via a WWW page. They sought to exploit a loophole in Canadian copyright law that, in iCraveTV's opinion, gave them the right to freely distribute any television content to all Canadian viewers if the same content were available over the air to any Canadian viewer. They employed a "screening" mechanism of requiring users to supply a Canadian telephone area code to gain entry to the site.

This Information Disclosure Statement shall not be construed as a representation that a search has been completed or that no other material information as defined in 37 C.F.R. §1.56(a) exists, nor shall the submission of any document or the disclosure of any other information in connection herewith be construed as an admission that the information cited is, or is considered to be, material to patentability, or as an admission against interest in any manner.

The above-listed references are, in the belief and opinion of the undersigned, the closest art of which the Applicants are aware as of this date, and it is hereby respectfully requested that this document be considered and made of record in the above-identified application.

It is believed that this disclosure complies with the requirements of 37 C.F.R. §§ 1.56, 1.97, and 1.98, and the Manual of Patent Examining Procedures §609. If for
